

Indulge the majesty of Chapman's Peak at the luxurious Tintswalo Atlantic

Holiday enthusiasts will agree that a getaway which is experienced on the Atlantic Ocean's doorstep is not only supremely mesmerising and relaxing, but is certainly a tick-off-item that should be included on everyone's bucket list.

Nestled at the base of Chapman's Peak within the Table Mountain National Park, the secretly located Tintswalo Atlantic offers an awe-inspiring panorama of the picturesque fishing village, Hout Bay. Owing to its exclusivity of being the only lodge on the Atlantic Ocean's edge, guests are treated to a front row seat of paradise.

Travellers are not only pampered by an elegance and style which the lodge is renowned for, but are rendered speechless by the unsurpassed view of the Atlantic's Sentinel Peak, providing the perfect backdrop of a tranquil hue of blue and turquoise.

The tropical ambience in every air-conditioned suite along the shore line is heightened by authentic décor that emulates the experience and colours of various islands of the world.

For example, the Ithica Island Suite is representative of Greece and Grecian style in particular, with crisp blues and indigos that are offset with white, cream and natural organic textures. In contrast, the Robben Island Suite pays tribute to the fact that one of South Africa's esteemed former presidents, Nelson Mandela, was imprisoned on the island for 27 years. The suite provides a quirky and yet very real reminder to those who wish to reflect on the country's transition.

All eleven island themed suites open to the glory of the ocean, a breath-taking scene at both sunrise and sunset, while even the spacious en-suite bathrooms provide an unhindered ocean vista.

From the supreme comfort and privacy of the suites, guests can indulge in whale watching as Southern Right whales are frequently witnessed from this part of the Southern African Coast.

These gentle giants migrate from the icy Antarctic Southern Ocean, appearing off the shores from May through to November annually and utilising the bay area as calving and nursery grounds, regularly gracing Tintswalo Atlantic's shoreline.

Those who have more of an affinity for dolphins will also be able to gaze admiringly at the variety of species seen in the South and South-Western Cape seas, including Bottlenose and Dusky dolphins.

However, luxurious experiences aren't limited to the confines of the suites as Tintswalo Atlantic's wooden deck, designed to blend harmoniously with the natural and astoundingly beautiful surrounds, allows guests to bask in the sun while sipping on decadent cocktails.

From the elongated wooden deck, with its heated jacuzzi, pool and comfortable loungers, patrons feel elevated and completely at ease in the majestic and tranquil setting provided by the South African natural wonders.

An added benefit to staying at Tintswalo Atlantic is that the world-renowned beauty of Cape Town is only a few minutes away, with a comfortable chauffeured vehicle available to transport guests to all of the city's noted landmarks. Discover the historical significance of Robben Island, admire the fantastic sea-creatures at Seal Island, sample the delicious fish at Hout Bay harbour, and enjoy the vibrant atmosphere and premier shopping experience of the V&A Waterfront.

After a vibrant day exploring Cape Town's treasures, guests can unwind in one of the lodge's opulent suites or on the wooden deck, enjoying a gourmet meal prepared by one of Tintswalo Atlantic's executive chefs.

For holiday makers seeking serenity and absolute tranquillity, the Tintswalo Atlantic should be a definite first on your bucket list of holidays to experience.
