

Tintswalo Safari Lodge's ranger blog provides front row seat to animal activities

If you need to get your safari fix and are wondering where a prime spot would be to do so, perhaps you should consider traveling to Tintswalo Safari Lodge. Tucked away within the pristine concession of the Manyeleti Reserve, Tintswalo offers you the big five in the lap of luxury.

Whether you are an avid game watcher or would like to treat the family to their first safari experience, the lodge offers the perfect setting for any animal enthusiast. Tintswalo Safari Lodge is a lavish and private sanctuary in which to experience the sights and sounds of Africa's big and little five, as well as their magnificent bird life.

If you are unable to leave the hum and drum of the city for the cricket sounds of nature, the lodge has come up with another way for you to enjoy nature right at your keyboard. Tintswalo Safari Lodge's blog provides an up-close, informative view of the animal activities at Manyeleti Game Reserve with information on each of the excursions written by the rangers themselves.

Tintswalo Safari Lodge Assistant Head Ranger, Darren Roberts-York is the originator of the blog, with the first entry having been posted in June 2012. Darren-York notes that he has received plenty positive feedback on the blog, with guests praising the detailed photography, and requesting the opportunity to view specific animals featured on the site such as the Matimba lion males.

He explained his motivation for starting the blog, "Upon being employed at Tintswalo Safari Lodge, I wanted to share the fact that the lodge is a true gem, with fantastic offerings. With social media currently having a considerable impact on consumer interactions, I decided that there wasn't a better or more appropriate platform to showcase our wildlife and add value to our guests' experiences than through the creation of a blog and Facebook updates.

"Our rangers do their best to live out their passion for the wild through the blog and post about all of the flora and fauna, both big and small to an effort to keep sofa safari lovers interested. Subsequently, the blog is changing the perception of the Manyeleti Game Reserve. Past and future guests can now follow the animals they have seen or will be seeing long before or after their visit to the lodge."

The blog receives on average about 70 to 75 views per day, originating from all over the world. All of the blog's videos are uploaded to YouTube and linked to the blog. YouTube page viewers will often get a sneak peak of upcoming blogs which keep the followers on the edge of their seat and ready to book their next Safari Lodge experience.

So prepare for your very own desktop safari experience and check out www.tintswaloguides.blogspot.com for all the latest happenings from Tintswalo Safari Lodge.

Editor's Notes:

About Tintswalo Safari Lodge:

Tintswalo Safari Lodge is located on the 23 000 hectare Manyeleti Game Reserve, which is bordered on the east by the Kruger National Park. The Lodge is surrounded by woodland savannah and gabbro open plains, and provides premium game viewing, as the full complement of the 'Big 5' can be seen along with cheetah, wild dog, African wild cat, spotted hyena, pangolin, and honeybadger.

Ends

Words: 468

Issued by : Chantal Riley
PR Worx
011 896 1818/083 380 5901
Chantal@prworx.co.za

On behalf of : Lisa Goosen
Tintswalo Property Group
011 300 8700