TINTSWALO SAFARI LODGE LAUNCHES NEW FAMILY SUITE

Tintswalo Safari Lodge has added to its portfolio of 'Explorer Suites' with the launch of a new two-bedroom family suite in the Manyeleti Game Reserve, bordering the Kruger National Park. Aimed at families and friends travelling together, the new Grant Suite is connected to the main lodge by a raised wooden walkway that winds through the bush. It offers two en-suite bedrooms with lavish bathrooms, and a spacious lounge with private deck and a large plunge pool overlooking the wilderness.

Designed in the style of a villa to provide guests with a comfortable 'home-away-from-home', the Grant Suite includes luxury accommodation, all meals served at the main lodge, house drinks, two private game drives per day in a private game-viewing vehicle with a dedicated tracker and guide, as well as complimentary Wifi and laundry, at a set rate of R43 160 per night for the unit (valid until 30 November 2017).

Accommodating children from the age of 9 and older in the Grant Suite, Tintswalo Safari Lodge offers a tailor-made children's programme, which aims to provide young visitors with a fun, educational perspective of the African bush. Daily themes focus on different educational aspects of the bush, ranging from South Africa and the Shangaan Culture, to tracking and stargazing - with each theme consisting of a talk, game drive and an exciting activity.

Each of Tintswalo Safari Lodge's suites have been designed to evoke the colonial adventures of the 19th century explorers after which they are named. The new Grant suite takes its name from James Augustus Grant, a Scottish explorer of Africa who spent much of his time traversing the continent with the renowned John Hanning Speke, in search of the elusive source of the Nile – every explorer's 'holy grail' quest. Grant was known for his commitment to Speke's voyage, his loyalty, and his resilience during challenging times.

About Tintswalo Safari Lodge

Sharing an unfenced boundary with the Kruger National Park, the pristine private Manyeleti Game Reserve is home to Tintswalo Safari Lodge. Boasting one of the lowest vehicle densities in the Greater Kruger region, Tintswalo Safari Lodge guests are spoiled with uninterrupted Big 5 game viewing experiences in an untouched African wilderness. The eight suites have been authentically designed to reflect the intricate luxuries of colonial times and evoke the adventures of the 19th century explorers after which they are named. Within the lodge, Tintswalo Manor House presents a fully-catered villa for families keen to experience a tailor-made stay.

Tintswalo Safari Lodge is accessed via a short drive from Hoedspruit airport, or a leisurely six-hour drive / shuttle service from Johannesburg for those guests who prefer a scenic road trip.

About Tintswalo Lodges

Tintswalo Lodges is an exquisite collection of three family-owned and run properties in South Africa. Perched on a pebbled beach at the foot of the Table Mountain National Park, directly overlooking the Atlantic Ocean, the award-winning Tintswalo Atlantic boutique lodge is renowned as one of Cape Town's most precious hidden gems. Sharing an unfenced boundary with the Kruger National Park, Tintswalo Safari Lodge sits within the pristine Manyeleti Private Game Reserve, home to some of South Africa's best Big 5 game viewing. Within the Tintswalo Safari Lodge, Tintswalo Manor House offers a luxurious, fully-catered villa for families or friends looking for a tailor-made stay. Situated in the heart of Kyalami just north of Johannesburg, Tintswalo at Waterfall is a luxurious countryside retreat and private events space for urbanites seeking to escape the everyday strains of city life.
